Getting Guardianship for your Eating Disordered Child

Mr. Josh Brysk - Attorney

Mr. Brysk has been practicing law in California since 1996 and is a graduate of the University of San Diego School of Law where he interned at the Center for Public Interest Law. He is admitted in State, Federal, Bankruptcy and Tax Courts throughout the State of California. For the last nineteen years, Mr. Brysk has been with the firm Cirrus Law PC and is now its managing attorney. He has been published in law journals, interned for a California State Court Appellate Justice and represented the prevailing clients in a case published by the Court of Appeal. His practice spans a variety of litigation and transactional matters including tax, bankruptcy, probate, estate planning, and conservatorship/guardianship law. He has lead a seminar teaching conservatorship law and procedures to attorneys for the Alameda County Bar Association. His expertise in conservatorship law is augmented by his background in tax, probate and estate planning.

Dan Cosgrove - Parent

We experienced the need for seeking guardianship when our daughter was in residential care home in Utah .This process entailed finding a qualified attorney and going in front of a judge every other month for four months, with her present and against her wishes. When we knew we were bringing her home back to California, we connected with Josh to uncover the process of continuing with guardianship. I will be able to speak through the process that we experienced as well as the feelings that go around doing this.
